Ending the year 2022 with a bang and heralding the New Year with his third album, Ajaxbeats returns with the appropriately titled long player 'Ten For Taz And Top Gun'. The DJ Producer and co-owner of NYCRavers has had a year that would have seen many retreat into themselves, but Ajaxbeats used the time to honor the passing of his sister Shontez "Taz" Morris and his father Andrew 'Top Gun' Morris.

Both passed within a four-day timeframe of his 41st birthday and from this tragedy and sadness emerged 10 tracks of moody dark electronic music that mines the depths of loss. The tracks are primal, deeply emotional and combined with layered textures which when his story is known, makes the listener realise the journey Ajaxbeats has been on.

Consistently releasing music that feeds the mind as well as the dance floor, he has been producing music of the highest order since 2017. His influences are wide and varied and contain elements of Lofi Hip Hop, Chillhop, Trap, and Liquid DnB as they weave a constant narrative throughout 'Ten For Taz And Top Gun'.

Featuring staccato synths, deep melodic bass and rhythms that are crafted to elicit the most passionate of responses, the album is full of emotionally charged moments that fill the soul to the brim and then some. Painting a soundscape that reflects his grief, the fluidity of the album is a thing to behold from start to finish.

Organic, smooth, and ubiquitously designed in every single way, 'Ten For Taz And Top Gun' is a requiem for the soul. With Ajaxbeats delivering the eulogy from the recording studio, there is no finer tribute for his family than this. Help the healing and discover a world where happiness can emerge once again.

AJAXBEATS

If you have been raving in NYC over the past decade, there is no doubt you would have been dancing in front of DJ Producer Ajaxbeats. Co-owner of NYCRavers, which has been organizing huge events in the Tri State area for nearly a decade, Ajaxbeats has also been releasing music of extraordinary depth and texture during that time.

His legacy in the game is borne out of his love from the underground and from a variety of influences including Lofi HipHop, Chillhop, Boombap, Trap, Liquid DnB and Punjabi Hip Hop. Navigating those rich waters was a journey that has seen his music touched by artists such as J Dilla, Nujabes, Pete Rock, Flying Lotus, Goldie, Pink Floyd, G-Deep and, even, the mighty James Brown.

He understands the sensory nuances of a track, and be it for the dance floor or the sanctity of a headset, the rich tapestry he creates is a never-ending quest to find the beauty in sound. From luxurious synths, to a driving bassline and intoxicating beats, the class within his music shines through every single time.

His track record speaks for itself. Two albums and a whole swag of singles are about to be joined by a new full-length LP in 2023 titled Ten For Taz And Top Gun. In a tragic year where he witnessed the passing of his sister Shontez "Taz" Morris and his father Andrew 'Top Gun' Morris, Ajaxbeats has found the strength and resilience to produce a collection of music that truly honors their memories.
